Go First lines up chartered services in revival bid

ROHIT VAID New Delhi, May 18

THE COMMERCIAL OPERA-TIONS of Go First still hangs in uncertainty with the carrier suspending its services till May 26. Sources said that while there's no clarity on restarting commercial operations, chartered services, which require a minimum of 4-8 aircraft, may get started once the interim resolution professional draws up a revival plan.

Though the airline is in insolvency and under moratorium, any clarity on restarting the commercial operations will come only after the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal pronounces an order on the petition of three of its lessors, who have objected to the company's plea for voluntary bankruptcy. The appellate tribunal is scheduled to pass its order on May 22

Byju's Alpha sued by loan agent for $1.2 bn

STEVEN CHURCH May 18

ONE OF INDIA'S hottest tech companies, Byju's Alpha, was sued by an agent for lenders in connection with a term loan of $1.2 billion after months of negotiations between creditors and the education technology firm.

The lawsuit was filed by Glas Trust Company and investor Timothy R Pohl against Byju's Alpha, Tangible Play and Riju Ravindran. The two companies being sued are units of Think and Learn Private, the edtech empire founded by Byju Raveendran. Ravindran is a director of

■ The two firms being sued are units of Think and Learn Private, the edtech empire founded by Byiu Raveendran. Ravindran is a director of Think and Learn

Think and Learn, according to a regulatory filing.

It's the latest setback for the once high-flying startup. Byju's had been scrambling to appease creditors on the restructuring of a $1.2 billion term loan before an antimoney laundering probe kicked off in April. The Bengaluru-based company has been working toward an initial public offering of its tutoring unit for several years.

Details about why the case was filed and what Glas Trust and Pohl want have been redacted from court documents. One filing indicates that the lawsuit may be related to a fight over the election of directors, but does not include any specific allegations.

A judge in Wilmington, Delaware — where the lawsuit was filed earlier this month scheduled a hearing by telephone Thursday to decide whether the case should be expedited.

Delaware Chancery Court Judge Morgan Zurn denied Ravindran's and Byju's request to close Thursday's hearing to the public. "Defendants seek to keep under seal the events at the crux of this case, but have only speculated that harm may result from their disclosure,"

Zurn said in a public filing.

"Defendants have not met the stringent burden required to deviate from the constitutional mandate that this Court be open to the public."

Byju's started negotiating its credit agreement after it breached investor protections on the debt by missing a deadline to disclose annual financial results. Earlier this year, lenders pushed back against a company proposal to rework its debt by increasing the interest rate on the $1.2 billion term loan due 2026. A steering committee of lenders opposed the plan, suggesting that the company instead repay part of the loan and lock up cash, Bloomberg News reported in February.

Amazon's cloud arm to invest ₹1.06 trn in India

RAJESH KURUP Mumbai, May 18

AMAZON WEB SERVICES (AWS), e-commerce giant Amazon's cloud computing subsidiary, will invest ₹1.06 trillion ($12.7 billion) for cloud infrastructure in India by 2030, targeting the growing customer demand for the services in the

This investment in data centre infrastructure in India will support an average of 1.32 trillion full-time equivalent (FTE) jobs in India each year. It is also expected to contribute ₹1.95 trillion ($23.3 billion) to the country's GDP in the next seven years, AWS said in a statement.

The FTEs — including construction, facility maintenance, engineering, telecommunications and other jobs — would be part of the data centre supply chain in India.

"Since 2016, AWS has invested billions of dollars into cloud infrastructure in India to support the tremendous growth we have witnessed in the use of cloud for digital transformation," said Puneet Chandok, president of commercial business, AWS India and South Asia.

"In addition to building cloud infrastructure and helping local customers and partners digitally transform, we have trained more than four million people in India with cloud skills since 2017, and invested in six utility-scale renewable energy projects to meet our global 100% renewable energy goal by 2025. Our planned investment of $12.7 billion will create more beneficial ripple effects, supporting India on its path to AWS currently operates two data centre

infrastructure regions in India — the AWS Asia Pacific (Mumbai) Region and the AWS Asia Pacific (Hyderabad) Region

becoming a global digital powerhouse," he added.

This builds upon AWS's previous commitments in India, as the company had already invested of ₹30,900 crore ($3.7 billion) between 2016 and 2022. By 2030, AWS's cumulative investment in the country will reach ₹1.37 trillion ($16.4

AWS currently operates two data centre infrastructure regions in India - the AWS Asia Pacific (Mumbai) Region, launched in 2016, and the AWS Asia Pacific (Hyderabad) Region, launched in November 2022.

AWS's investment in India has a ripple effect in the local economy in areas, such as workforce development, training and skilling opportunities, community engagement and sustainability initiatives, AWS statement added.

The company has invested more than ₹30,900 crore ($3.7 billion) in the AWS Asia Pacific (Mumbai) Region — for both capital and operating expenditures — between 2016 and 2022. AWS estimates that its overall contribution to the GDP of India between 2016 and 2022 was more than ?38,200 crore ($4.6 billion), and the investment supported about 39,500 FTE jobs annually.

"India Cloud and the underlying data centre infrastructure are important elements of India's digital infrastructure and ecosystem. It (the investment) will certainly catalyse India's digital economy. MeitY is also working on a Cloud and Data Centre Policy to catalyse innovation, sustainability, and growth of India Cloud," said Rajeev Chandrashekhar, Minister of State for Electronics and Information Technology, Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, said.
